After beating cancer at 25, I've struggled with stress incontinence for a few years now. I'm a huge runner and this is when I feel it the most. I thought for sure it would just have to be something I deal with for the rest of my life (sneezing, laughing, and other quick movements included!) I saw improvements in about three weeks with Yarlap and I'm still freaking out about not experiencing incontinence in my day-to-day life -- especially with running. It's so easy to use and it's now become a part of my nightly routine. What I love the most is that you can customize what you need based on what type of incontinence you're dealing with -- and it doesn't at all feel uncomfortable. Wish this would have been in my life sooner!! Thank you, Yarlap.

I received amazing positive results with the Yarlap in less than 2 weeks! Just a warning, for this review might contain TMI for some. I've been seeing a urologist for over a year for overactive bladder day and night, incontinence, and the beginning of bowel incontinence and have had to wear pads daily. During that time, I was put on several different drugs, additional hormones, and was told I needed to realize this was all caused by my age, which was 60 years, when all these problems began to culminate and become overwhelming. I've been doing Kegel exercises since 1979, when I began Lamaze classes before my first baby was born and have had 3 completely natural childbirths. I have been doing the exercises faithfully since then and over the years have also used vaginal weights, balls, eggs, etc. Once my urologist told me the next steps would be either treatments that might work and would cost $300 per treatment and I would need at least 10 treatments and/or surgery that might work, I felt as though I needed to research other options. I am so thankful I found the Yarlap in my search for relief from my problems. I chose the Yarlap, because I had read the history of how it came to be and felt very confident with the father/daughter team who brought this FDA-approved product to market. It also had excellent reviews and was a lot cheaper than what my urologist was proposing. Within 3 days I could feel the difference of improved muscle control and did not have to get up to use the restroom during the night or worry about uncontrollable flatulence. The Yarlapp is very easy to use. It is quite relaxing, to a point where I don't want the session to end so quickly :) I have spoken with Customer Service, and they were very helpful and courteous. Additionally, my husband is also VERY happy with this purchase ;) Best money ever spent! Just wish I would've found the Yarlapp before incurring all the unnecessary medical expenses.

Only giving 5 stars because 10 isn't an option. It takes the guesswork out of kegels, and has eliminated my slight incontinence. I've been using the device for a few months now, and I feel like my vagina could do a ping pong show in Tijuana.

I have never had good bladder control I am only 49. Everywhere I go I scout out a bathroom. It doesn't make vacation or even shopping much fun. I've worn a pad in my pants for most of my life. Its has giving me the freedom to not spend not only the money and the time on finding bathrooms and pads. I've been able to use this and gain the freedom of not having to use the restroom every time I turn around.

I have had the embarrassment of incontinence since I was 16. If I laugh, cough, sneeze, I have a problem. I lost control of my urinary stream and occasionally had to end sexual intercourse because it over stimulated my bladder. Kegels, pads, yoga, dietary changes did not work. Nothing worked. I was skeptical when a friend gave me one as a gift earlier this year. Yarlapp trained my body to Kegel at the correct angles. While my muscle still need toning, the difference over the past few months is astounding.
